Register entry description

History

The K6 (kiosk number six) was designed by Giles Gilbert Scott to commemorate the Silver Jubilee of George V. It was consequently sometimes known as the "Jubilee" kiosk. It went into production in 1936.

Details

FORM and MATERIALS: Four-sided rectangular box with a domed roof. Painted cast iron sections bolted together, standing on a concrete base. Painted timber door. Door and side panels are glazed with eight rows of three panes of glass, with a wide central pane.

Reason for Registration Decision

Queens Road K6 Telephone Kiosk, Port St Mary, is recommended for entry into the Protected Buildings Register for the following reasons:

●ARCHITECTURAL INTEREST:

- The K6 kiosks were designed by Giles Gilbert Scott to commemorate the Silver Jubilee of George V, and are examples of an iconic architectural design.

●HISTORIC INTEREST:

- The kiosk illustrates important aspects of the island's social history, being important symbols of communication and connectivity in both urban and rural communities on the island.
