Subject: Re ISP price increase

Dear Sirs,

I'm not a specialist but I'm a bit concerned with your proposal. As you probably know the situation on the market with internet has been a bit "static", to put it gently. With Bluewave becoming more and more popular with its competitive prices and services, your proposal for some reason feels aimed directly at this company! But in the end it will be us, users paying the extra money with no doubt! Are they too competitive for MT and Sure and this is the way to bring the internet prices to the same level? Do you think that people on the island who work hard and want to spend their money locally could afford yet another price rise? After the toilet tax, gas prices, parking on the prom etc?! It is a bit unfair as the internet has become one of life necessities and people will pay higher bills anyway! As I said, I'm just an average Jo and you'll do as you please anyway. Just my opinion.

Thank you and kind regards
