WARDEN'S WALK Sloc

Warden's Walks are available as a series of leaflets, each with a detailed map and route description. They are also available on our website. They should be used in conjunction with the Outdoor Leisure Map 1:25,000 series.

This is a walk of 5 kilometres, about 3 miles. Approx. 1.5 – 2 hours. It involves a steep uphill climb from The Sloc following the Coastal Footpath, before continuing along the Lhiatte ny Beinee ridge southwards, with extensive views over the south of the Island and the Calf. The route then descends towards Fleshwick Bay. Partway down, the route turns off the footpath to follow the contour south eastwards. On meeting the Greenway road the route turns northwards to follow the Greenway gently uphill. The final stretch is a gradual descent along the Greenway back to the starting point.

Choughs, which are a member of the crow family, can often be seen in this area of the Island. They are black in colour and have red beaks and legs and can easily be recognised by their shrill call. Their acrobatic flight keeps them safe from the Island's number one aerial predator, the peregrine, which may also be seen nearby. Other birds which may be spotted whilst on the walk include; stonechats, meadow pipits and hen harriers.

Western gorse is the main component of the heathland in this area. On a clear day, if you look out to sea you may spy the Mountains of Morne. This granite mountain range is located in County Down in the south-east of Northern Ireland.
