

Weather forecast for the Isle of Man

Issued on Wednesday, 08 April 2026 at 8:55am by Ronaldsway Met Office

- Forecast: Bright or sunny spells at first this morning but perhaps turning cloudier for a time with the small risk of some coastal mist, before brighter spells redevelop this afternoon. Temperatures reaching up to 14 or possibly 15°C at best, in the light and variable breeze.
Dry and bright this evening, but turning increasingly cloudy overnight, with the risk of coastal mist and fog developing, as the winds settle to the south or southwest and start to freshen, with rain arriving from the west from around dawn. Minimum temperature around 6°C.
- Outlook: Tomorrow morning will be cloudy with outbreaks of rain, which will clear to sunny spells and blustery showers towards lunchtime, as the moderate to fresh west to southwest wind becomes fresh to strong. Top temperature around 11°C.
Friday will start dry and bright with some early sunshine, before it turns increasingly cloudy with rain arriving during the afternoon. The light to moderate southerly wind will increase to become strong during the afternoon, and perhaps touch gale force for a time during the evening, before the rain clears overnight and the wind turns to the southwest and eases slightly. Maximum temperature around 10°C.
- Sunrise: 6:35am Today
Sunset: 8:07pm Today
